Claim U.S. Men Confess to Spying

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev claimed today that the two surviving crewmen of the U.S. reconnaissance plane shot down in the Arctic by a Soviet fighter admitted they were on a spy mission.

Khrushchev told a news conference in the Kremlin that the survivors — 1st Lt. John R. McCone, 38, of Tonganoxie, Kan., and 1st Lt. Freeman B. Ohmstead, 24, of Elmira, N.Y. — had admitted their RB47 "was to have flown along the northern frontiers of the Soviet Union on an espionage mission."

Khrushchev said the "provocative flight of the RB47 showed that President Eisenhower's assurance

Swine Day July 14 at Exp. Station

All individuals interested in swine production are invited to attend a special Swine Day at the Southwest Experiment Station Thursday, July 14, starting at 10 a.m. according to Cecil M. Bittle, Assistant Director in charge of the station.

Exhibits of swine will be furnished by local producers under the supervision of M. Day, Lawrence of Hope and also animals will be displayed from the Animal Industry Department of the University of Arkansas.

Highlights of the program will include a summary of Agricultural Research by Dr. E. M. Crallie, Director of Agricultural Experiment Stations, Results of Swine Breeding by Dr. P. R. Nolan, Animal Husbandman, Comparison of Various Feeding Plans by Dr. K. W. Scott, 31 elements by Dr. N. W. Scott, Associate Animal Husbandman, Trends in Feeder Production by Mr. A. L. Owen, Extension Livestock Marketing Specialist. Other interesting topics will be a discussion on Antibiotics, Pre-slaughter Treatment on Pork Quality and How Grain Sorghum Compares with Corn in Feeding Value.

Lunch will be served by the Hopewell Home Demonstration Club of Hempstead County.

The program will be over at 2:30 p.m.

U.S. Plane Adventures Stir British

LONDON (AP) — Demands mounted in Britain today for firm assurance that Washington is consulting fully with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government on the activities of American planes flying from British bases.

That was the first reaction to the Soviet claim to have shot down another U.S. reconnaissance aircraft over Soviet territory.

The missing RB47 took off from the U.S. Air Force base at Byrd, Norton, England, and many Britons want to know whether its flight was first sanctioned by Macmillan.

In a note to Macmillan's government, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev accused Britain of being a "direct participant" in aggressive American acts and with assuming heavy responsibility for the possible consequences.

Macmillan faces a barrage of questions on this and the U2 incident in the House of Commons today. When questioned previously on the May Day shooting down over the Soviet Union of the American U2 plane, the Prime Minister contended there could be no public discussion of intelligence activities in his knowledge or before any American fight which may involve her in a grave international incident is a different matter.

Moscow accused this country of another violation of its frontiers, this time by an RB47 jet. In reporting the plane missing earlier this month, the United States said it had been on a scientific mission, checking on magnetic fields off the coasts of Norway and the Soviet Union.

Moscow said two of the crew had parachuted and would be prosecuted "with the full severity of Soviet law." The other four members are dead or missing.

The Soviet Union also asserted American aerial espionage continues despite Eisenhower's pledge in May that U.S. spy plane missions over Soviet territory were being discontinued.

Hagerty said Eisenhower had got his first word of the Soviet charges while on the golf course at the Newport Country Club. The President was on the 14th tee when Hagerty passed the word.

Sleeping Illness Hits 2nd

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Bernadette Frantantonio, 3, a sleeping beauty struck down last fall by a mysterious malady, now has been joined by her 5-year-old sister in the same strange slumber.

Venita Frantantonio lies asleep in an adjoining crib at Mount Sinai Hospital. Bernadette awakes briefly, then falls back to sleep. Physicians, who are conducting tests, do not know yet whether the cases are related.

Both girls are children of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent N. Frantantonio of Cleveland Heights. They have talent. In the talent competition of Cleveland Heights, the mother is Miss Robison will do a dramatic reading.

Individual Losing Out, Says Editor

The wise men who founded our American republic set up a system of checks and balances by which they hoped to safeguard it against the human errors that have destroyed all governments in the past. Alex. H. Washburn, editor and publisher of The Star, told the Kiwanis Club luncheon today noon at Diamond Cafe.

But recurring wars and worldwide emergencies have so damaged those safeguards and so confused the people that today you might say it is the government that is running the people rather than the citizens running the government, Washburn continued.

The editor said this fact was driven home to him personally when the Internal Revenue Service fined him $2,500 tax and interest for "attempting to influence legislation" by circulating the 1956 petition for a popular vote on the act to exempt poultry and livestock feed from state sales tax — a case which he is now fighting in the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals, St. Louis. Continued Washburn:

"When you think this matter over carefully you will understand why no good American — particularly a newspaper editor — can ever accept the action of a Treasury clerk in telling him what he can or can not do in matters affecting the government of which the clerk is but a hired hand."

U. S. Grimly Silent Over 2nd Plane

By MARVIN L. ARIOWSMITH

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Officially-ordered United States silence prevailed today as President Eisenhower awaited a government report on the Soviet Union's assertion it had shot down another American plane.

The order to all federal officials to keep mum was announced at the summer White House late Monday.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference there would be no public comment from anyone in the administration pending receipt of the report Eisenhower ordered.

The President sent word to the State and Defense Departments that he wants full information on the Moscow charges — and that no federal spokesman should comment while the charges are being studied.

This was in dramatic contrast with what happened two months ago in the U2 spy plane episode when the Soviet Union lured the U.S. government into a trap and touched off an international furor.

In that incident administration spokesmen at first said the U2 was on a reconnaissance mission and perhaps had strayed unintentionally off its course into Soviet territory.

Khrushchev seized on the episode to wreck the May summit conference and to touch off a Communist hate-Eisenhower propaganda campaign.

The administration reacted quite differently Monday when the Soviet Union announced it had shot down a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane missing in the Arctic since July 11.

Moscow accused this country of another violation of its frontiers, this time by an RB47 jet. In reporting the plane missing earlier this month, the United States said it had been on a scientific mission, checking on magnetic fields off the coasts of Norway and the Soviet Union.

Moscow said two of the crew had parachuted and would be prosecuted "with the full severity of Soviet law." The other four members are dead or missing.

The Soviet Union also asserted American aerial espionage continues despite Eisenhower's pledge in May that U.S. spy plane missions over Soviet territory were being discontinued.

Hagerty said Eisenhower had got his first word of the Soviet charges while on the golf course at the Newport Country Club. The President was on the 14th tee when Hagerty passed the word.

Convention Prepares to Adopt Hardest of Civil Rights Planks

Kennedy's Position Impregnable

By JACK BELL

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Democratic National Convention squared off today for a civil rights battle, with Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts holding an impregnable position as its potential presidential nominee.

Adherents of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas refused to give up hope that he can wrest the nomination away from Kennedy by a dramatic last-hour rally.

In line with this, Johnson called a news conference today for what an aide called "an important announcement concerning the issues involved in the convention" and Johnson's position concerning them.

The aide declined to elaborate. Asked whether Johnson would announce then that he was withdrawing from the race, the aide replied "No, definitely not."

But if Johnson wouldn't give up, only a relative few among the delegates questioned that Kennedy will go beyond the required 761 votes for the top nomination on the first presidential tally Wednesday.

This situation spawned feverish activity on the part of Democrats of all shades of opinion hoping to get in on the ground floor of what they hope will become the first party administration of the White House in eight years.

They paid little more than cursory attention initially to a platform containing the party's strongest recorded stand on civil rights. Despite a vigorous protest from delegates of nine Southern states, there seemed little likelihood that the opposition would go beyond vocal fireworks or engage in any substantial bolt.

The delegates' attention was riveted on the presidential ticket, maneuvering still going on despite all indications that Kennedy had the top nomination safely stowed away in his pocket.

Near the elevated speakers' stand, the 30-vote Missouri delegation was busy with speculation. Its favorite son, Sen. Stuart Symington, was reported slowly recognizing the inevitability of Kennedy's nomination.

Would Symington accept second place on the ticket? No. replied the senator's closest friends, he still was running for the presidential nomination.

But a "perhaps" came from Gov. James T. Blair Jr., who was not regarded as one of the most enthusiastic of Symington's voters despite his position as head of the delegation.

"I think he might take it," Blair told a reporter.

Across the aisle Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio, who was converted to the Kennedy cause the hard way several months ago, was of the same opinion.

DiSalle voiced the belief that either Johnson or Symington would take second place with alacrity. But Kennedy himself almost ruled out Johnson at an earlier news conference when he said he thinks the Texas senator regards his Senate leadership responsibility as greater than that of the vice presidency.

Bulletins

BRUSSELS (AP) — The Congolese government has asked the United States to send troops to the Congo to help restore order, the Belgian radio said today. The U.S. ambassador in Leopoldville, Clare Timberlake, has given agreement in principle and will transmit the request to Washington.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The season's first tropical storm hurricane Abby, today continued a slow, deliberate westward movement across the Caribbean.

The course, unless altered, would carry Abby well south of any point in the United States.

With peak winds of 95 miles per hour, Abby swept wide of Puerto Rico Monday night, and the Weather Bureau's hurricane watch for Haiti and the Dominican Republic was discontinued.

Delegates from nine Southern states filed a vehement protest that will be read to the convention, saying the civil rights declarations transgress state rights guarantees of the constitution.

"We do not propose to be bound by them and respectfully request that this statement of repudiation be entered upon the minutes of the convention," said the joint statement presented by Charles Bloch, Miami, Ga.

But Bloch rejected any idea the Georgia delegation would walk out in protest, although he said "I can't answer for" other Southern states.

Rep. Chester Bowles of Connecticut, Platform Committee chairman, predicted the convention would accept the platform as written "with great enthusiasm."

Bowles tried to minimize the idea of any party split or Southern convention bolt, saying: "I believe the party will stay together to help force a victory in November."

Party strategists expressed doubts that the South, no matter how irked at their party platform, would go Republican in the fall. They reasoned that Vice President Richard M. Nixon would not chance wooing the South by a "soft" GOP civil rights plank, out of fear of losing the North.

The text of the Democratic platform is not to be made public until tonight, but many of its major provisions have been disclosed informally.

The platform expresses sympathy with recent lunch counter sit-in demonstrations and the racial equality decisions of the Supreme Court. It also calls for federal injunction powers to enforce civil rights infractions.

Another party commitment to end federal aid to segregated housing projects is something that if implemented in administering the housing programs, could open a new field of civil rights controversy.

The platform is expected to criticize sharply President Eisenhower's handling of foreign policy, especially the spy plane incident that resulted in the collapse of the Paris summit conference.

The new party policies also will call for more federal economic planning and aid to depressed areas. It will call for tax revisions and a reduction in the oil depletion tax allowance. Traditional party policy of high crop supports for farmers will be repeated.

Jaycees Best for Training Leadership

"Do all in your power to interest young men in the Jaycee organization which will give them the opportunity for leadership training," Bubs Ricketts of Fayetteville, president of the Arkansas Jaycees, told a group of Jaycees, Jayceettes, and guests at the annual installation banquet for the two Hope groups held at the Diamond Monday evening.

Prior to Mr. Ricketts' talk, remarks and the presentation of Jaycee Awards were made by Gene White, retiring president. Named as Key Men for the past year were Jim Edwards, Pug Goodner, Al Williams, LeRoy Anderson, and Wade Benefield.

Bobby Joe Lee was named Outstanding Jaycee, the Outstanding Committee Chairman was Dale Dunn, and Special Awards went to J. B. Martin, Pug Goodner and Gene White.

Mrs. Denville Ross, retiring Jayceette president, made a few remarks and the presentation of Jayceette Awards. For their work in the 1958-1959 year Mrs. J. B. Martin, Mrs. Paul McClellan, Mrs. W. D. Flowers, Mrs. Raymond Clark, and Mrs. Don LaFantasie received special recognition. Named Outstanding Jayceettes for the 1958-1959 club year were Mrs. Tom Hancock, Mrs. Bobby Joe Lee, and Mrs. Bob Conner.

The following officers were installed by the state Jaycee president: club president, Bob Conner; internal vice president, Raymond Clark; external vice president, Dale Dunn; secretary, Bobby Joe Lee; treasurer, Don Simpson; state director, Don LaFantasie; board of directors, Jim Edwards, Pug Goodner, Al Williams, and Fred Mathenia. A special pin was also presented to state vice president Raymond Byers.

Mrs. Wilburn Cox of Malvern district vice president of the Jayceettes, conducted the installation of the following Jayceette officers: president, Mrs. Don LaFantasie; vice president, Mrs. Raymond Clark; recording secretary, Mrs. James Howell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Jim Edwards; reporter and historian, Mrs. LeRoy Anderson, parliamentarian, Mrs. J. B. Martin. A special award was given the retiring president, Mrs. Denville Ross.

Plank to Be Strongest in Party Record

By NORMAN WALKER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Despite stiff Dixie opposition, the Democratic convention is expected to adopt tonight a platform containing the party's strongest stand yet on civil rights.

Delegates from nine Southern states filed a vehement protest that will be read to the convention, saying the civil rights declarations transgress state rights guarantees of the constitution.

"We do not propose to be bound by them and respectfully request that this statement of repudiation be entered upon the minutes of the convention," said the joint statement presented by Charles Bloch, Miami, Ga.

Enlisted Man Now General

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Charles D. Henley of Little Rock enlisted in the Army Reserve as a private in 1924. Now he's a general, the first Arkansas reservist to reach that rank.

Brig. Gen. Henley received his star yesterday from Maj. Gen. William C. Bullock of Fort Chaffee, commander of the XIX Army Corps. Henley is assistant division commander of the 95th Infantry Division, composed of Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma reservists.

Henley has spent 12 years on active duty, including service in the Pacific during World War II.

in their travel expenses and even their association dues being declared non-deductible expense items in their income tax returns.

"And so today we are placed in the unhappy position of petitioning Congress for that very independence and freedom which our Constitution guaranteed us. If this isn't the time to become an outraged and angry citizen then I don't know the lesson that the history of the past has taught us."

The King's Men

"Our American republic's principles were laid down by Anglo-Saxons whose forefathers saw the King's men invade English households without a search warrant and drag off to prison and hold them there without any hope of rescue by a writ of habeas corpus. Therefore our early Americans resolved that the person of the individual should be preserved against the hand of government at all costs. Government could not come upon private property except with a warrant backed by information sworn to by some other person.

"What the citizens need to know today is just how far we have fallen from that once exalted position in human liberty."

"Only a year or so ago the United States Supreme Court ruled in the case of Maryland's so-called 'cockroach law' that sanitary inspectors could enter private property without first obtaining a search warrant."

"And only last month the same court held in a Dayton (Ohio) case that municipal inspectors seeking to enforce a city ordinance regarding utility connections could enter a man's home without going through the legal formality of obtaining a warrant."

"So the dignity of the individual is dragged down to the level of a mere census digit in the governmental shuffle to make the King's men Big Boys and you a Little One. We are steadily turning back in the book to history's darker pages."

"And in the current month we are treated to the spectacle on the Kentucky-Ohio border of Kentucky tax agents stopping and searching automobiles suspected of carrying merchandise bought in Ohio to escape Kentucky's new 3.7% sales tax — although the courts haven't ruled on this one as yet.

"And this final comment on the queer, confused world in which our people live today."

Civil Service Raid

"A generation ago we set up the Civil Service System to protect government workers from being turned out of their jobs each time there was a change in administration. But only last month the civil servants put the squeeze on Congress for an arbitrary pay increase — and got it."

"The thought at this point is, 'Maybe what we need now is a law protecting politicians from government workers!'"

"At the very least, the idea of Civil Service has been hopelessly compromised — the protected ones having now become the aggressors."

"And the idea spreads, of course. The National Education Association, noting the success of the organized Civil Service folks in making themselves heard in Washington, now is demanding direct federal aid for school teachers — a move which bodes no good either for the Civil Service folks or the taxpayers."

"The one helpless person in this whole picture is the private citizen and taxpayer."

"He has lost control over his governmental costs — and to a minority at that, for those on government payrolls still number only one out of every seven citizens."

"Perhaps now you can see why I suggest that every time you lobby for a federal project you resolve also to have your organization put in an effective word for reform and justice in government operations."

"In conclusion let me say, the newspapers and broadcasting industries can't do this job by themselves. It's got to be done by citizen groups making direct contact with their Congressmen and Senators."

"Remember this when the Boggs bill comes up as Congress reconvenes in August."

at the abortive Paris summit conference that American spy flights over the Soviet Union had been discontinued "are not worth a Khrushchev said that since the plane was stopped as it began its intrusion over Soviet territory, the Soviet government limited itself to destroying the aircraft."

"The surviving members of the crew will be brought to court in accordance with Soviet laws," he continued. "Let the provocateurs and the executors of their ill will not count on such actions going unpunished."

After the plane disappeared July 1, the U. S. Air Force said it was surveying electromagnetic fields in arctic waters to gain information for improved navigational maps. There has been no reply so far from the United States to the Soviet charge that the plane was spying, first made Monday in the Soviet announcement that the suspect aircraft had been shot down.

"The incident, Khrushchev asserted, 'testified that the U. S. government has not abandoned the policy of committing acts of aggression against the Soviet Union.'"

"The American people," he continued, "like the whole world public must know the truth. They must know that the U. S. government is conducting a dangerous game with the destinies of the world, the destinies of the peoples."

In an opening statement, Khrushchev repeated the Foreign Ministry's account Monday that the U. S. plane intruded over Soviet territorial waters near Novaya Zemlya, a 10-mile projection into the Barents Sea from the Kola Peninsula; that it headed for Archangel, the Soviet Arctic seaport 240 miles to the south, and that it failed to follow signal orders from a Soviet fighter plane to follow it and land."

After that, Khrushchev's statement said, "in accordance with the orders given to the armed forces of the Soviet Union on guarding the Soviet frontiers, our fighter was compelled to open fire on the aircraft and brought it down."

"Later, two members of the crew of the shot-down American plane were found in Soviet territorial waters, the navigator and the second pilot."

"From their depositions it became known that the six-engine RB47 plane left an American military base on British territory and was to have flown along the northern frontiers of the Soviet Union on an espionage mission and then to return to Britain."

Khrushchev described the incident as "a new act of perfidy on the part of the U. S. government."

"The provocative flight of the

Peace Hangs on U. S. A., Says Church

By GEOFFREY GOULD

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Peace, freedom, the fate of the world "all ultimately depend upon American principle, American prestige, and American power," Sen. Frank Church told the opening session of the Democratic convention Monday night.

And all these three hallmarks, he charged, have eroded to the danger point in seven years under President Eisenhower.

The lanky young Idaho senator set the tone for the coming presidential campaign in the keynote address to the convention, gathered for the first time in the cavernous Los Angeles Sports Arena.

His speech, cast in the traditional partisan pattern, poked scorn at administration domestic policies in the fields of farm programs, interest rates, public works programs.

Church derided GOP prosperity claims as "a pitch-man prosperity, the kind that results when government is run by hucksters not unaccustomed to selling inferior products by wrapping them in bright packages."

But he reserved his harshest indictment for the Eisenhower record in foreign policy. For more than seven years, he said, the American RB47 military aircraft shows that the assurances of President Eisenhower in Paris last May, on the discontinuation of spy flights into the confines of the Soviet Union, are not worth a penny.

DOROTHY DIX

Invalid Lost Husband to Other Women

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen Worden Erskine:
 My husband and I will have been married 38 years this month. We have four wonderful children all happily married with children of their own — 13 grandchildren in all. I have worked, helped to make the family living and stuck by my husband through thick and thin because I loved him and thought he loved me.

When I contracted tuberculosis and had to go to a sanitarium for eight months, he started going with other women. He was good to me when I got home but he still goes out with other women and, when I cry, bawls me out. We sleep in the same room but he never touches me. My heart is breaking. He is 60, I'm 57. I love him so much he is killing me by degrees. He's a very likeable fellow and it seems as if all women liked him. Should I go on as if nothing had happened, or fight it out with him? — Broken-hearted Wife

Dear Broken-Hearted Wife:
 Your husband is evidently an outgoing, gregarious man. Perhaps you've been too conscientious a wife. When he gallivants, he's probably seeking the tinsel and adventure he misses at home. How about buying yourself some new and becoming clothes, getting a different hairdo and stepping out with him? Forget that you're a grandma, and be a grandma. Have a good time.

Dear Helen Worden Erskine:
 I have a phobia about kissing boys. I have been kissed by two different boys in my life. The first time I was 13 and liked a boy 16. It took him two weeks. When he did, we were on the beach. He pushed me into the sand. We were chaperoned of course. The second time was two months ago. A boy kissed me in the shower. After a while I went steady. Then we broke up. He would kiss me and I liked it but two months ago I just couldn't do it. Now the thought of kissing a boy scares me to death. Do you suppose there is something wrong with me? — Alaska

Dear Alaska:
 Your reactions are normal. Most girls are scared of kissing. The time, the place and the boy make a big difference. I wouldn't worry. Keep in mind that dating among teenagers should not be just for kissing. When you date you learn how to get acquainted and get along with others. The kissing should come much later. You won't be afraid when the right boy shows up.

Dear Helen Worden Erskine:
 I am going steady with a boy in the Army. He is stationed in Germany. We plan to marry in a year but there are two problems: one is our religion — we are of different faiths, the second is: we have never seen each other, only by pictures. My father doesn't know that we plan to marry but we are both going to talk it over with him as soon as my boy friend comes home. Can you advise me what I should do? — A.M.

Dear A.M.:
 You haven't mentioned the major problem — transferring your picture romance from paper to reality. If, after really getting to know one another, you still love him and he you, the other problems will be surmountable. The old saying, "Love conquers all," still holds.

Appreciation Night for Junior Legion Baseball Team Planned at NLR Game Here This Week

NLR, Beaten 6 to 0, Out for Revenge

Friday night, July 15, will be Merchants' Appreciation Night for the local Junior Legion Baseball team. Each player will be introduced separately and will display the uniform he will be wearing, purchased by local merchants.

The team will play North Little Rock, one of the best Junior Legion teams in the state. The North Little Rock boys, having been beaten by Hope Sunday 6 to 0, will be out for revenge so things should be interesting.

The local Junior Legion team is composed of players that have come up through the Little and Pony League Baseball program and is organized for boys in the 16 and 17 age groups. A formal organization for players of this age was first begun in 1953 with the original sponsors being the Hope Star, Rotary Club, Citizens Bank, Anthony Lumber Co., and the VFW. Since 1956, the team has been sponsored by the Star, Citizens Bank and Rotary Club with each of these teams contributing $11 per year for baseballs, equipment, etc.

Last year the team's sponsorship was supplemented by several of the Val-U-Mart Merchants and when it was inevitable this season that new uniforms be bought, local merchants and individuals "chipped in" very graciously to buy the boys a set of uniforms second to none in the Nation. Each player wears his uniform with pride and is grateful for being able to play baseball in a city that takes pride in the development of their young people.

The three permanent sponsors, Hope Star, Citizens Bank and Rotary Club, each have their names on the back of the pitcher's warm up jackets, and the following merchants have uniforms with their names inscribed:

Perry's Truck Stop, Stephens Gro. Co., Moore Bros. Cox Bros., and Bramlett Oil Co., Harold Hendrix,

Vern Law Hurls Nats to Victory

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—National League Manager Walter Alston will go for an All-Star sweep Wednesday with Vern Law, another member of the Pittsburgh staff that led to the 5-3 first-game victory over the American League at Kansas City Monday in sweltering 100-degree heat.

Law threw seven pitches in stopping a ninth-inning threat and preserved the victory for teammate Bob Friend, who pitched one-hit ball for three shutout innings. It was the NL's 12th victory in 28 midsummer meetings with the AL and the second for Friend against one defeat.

Relief artist Elroy Face, third mound member of the Pirates All-Star cast, earlier had stopped another serious American League threat by getting Luis Aparicio to bounce into sixth inning double play with the bases loaded.

The trio from the league-leading Pirates worked a combined 5 1-3 innings, allowing no runs and only one hit, a second-inning single by Baltimore's Romie Hansen off Friend.

American League Manager Al Lopez, who used six pitchers in a vain attempt to stop the National League power, indicated he would send southpaw Whitey Ford to the mound in the second game at Yankee Stadium. Left-handers generally are more effective at the Yankee park than at Kansas City, with its short left field fence, that was cleared three times in the first game.

Ernie Banks, NL home run and RBI leader, slammed the first home run, off starter Bill Monbouquette of Boston, with a man on base in the first inning to feature a three-run attack that hung the defeat on the Red Sox' youthful right-hander.

Del Crandall, Milwaukee catcher, walloped the other NL homer, a solo shot in the second inning. This, too, was hit off Monbouquette, who was tagged for five hits and four runs before giving way to Baltimore's Chuck Estrada in the third.

Willie Mays, the great center fielder of the San Francisco Giants, got two of those hits, a first-inning triple and a second-inning single. He doubled later, off New York's Jim Coates, and came within several feet of becoming the first man in All-Star competition to hit for the cycle. His drive to right off Cleveland's Gary Bell in the sixth was snared by Harvey Kuenn of Cleveland with a leaping catch.

The National League collected 12 hits to the AL's six, all but one of them was in the first five innings when they scored all their runs for a 5-0 lead.

The American League used a record number of 25 players, but only six of them hit safely against the five NL pitchers. The big blow was an eighth-inning home run by Detroit's Al Kaline off Milwaukee right-hander Bob Buhl. The drive came after Kuenn had reached base on an error and reduced the NL's lead to 5-3.

The Americans, who had been held to only one hit in the first five innings, threatened to pull the game out of the fire in the last of the ninth. With one out, Baltimore's Jim Gentile singled off Buhl, after catcher Smokey dropped his foul pop, and Jim Burgess of Pittsburgh had Lemon of Washington walked.

Alston, who skipped the Los Angeles Dodgers to a pennant last year, then summoned Law from the bullpen. The big Mormon right hander got Baltimore's Brooks Robinson to raise an easy fly to center and then disposed of Kuenn on a liner to right, where Roberto Clemente, still another Pittsburgher, caught the Owen's cinched the Little League title last Friday night with their 14th consecutive win, being undefeated in League play for 1960. In their final game today, Tuesday, July 12, they will be trying for 15 in a row. The team has been managed by Brint Odom for the past two years and at the end of the current season will lose such "Top Notchers" as Charlie Beard, Jim Brown, Tommy Still, Joe Chism, Revell Bullard and Rodney Billings who will be playing their last game for Owen's Tuesday night.

Final League standings will be announced later in the week as the "final night's play" may determine some positions.

1960 Rice Crop Under Year Ago

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas' 1960 rice crop is forecast at 12,448,000 hundredweight, a drop from last year's production of 12,639,000 hundredweight.

The Agriculture Department yesterday forecast acreage of 383,000 acres, the same as last year. The national rice crop was estimated at 53,099,000 hundredweight, compared with 53,122,000 last year. The Arkansas corn crop was forecast at 11,121,000 bushels from 1,337,000 acres, a sharp decline from 1959 production of 14,945,000 bushels from 427,000 acres.

Indifference of Negroes Is Berated

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Negroes should take advantage of their political and economic privileges, says L.C. Bates, field secretary for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Bates, speaking to an NAACP meeting yesterday, also took verbal shots at two candidates for governor, Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett.

He said, "If we had the balance of power and what we wanted was integration, Orval Faubus would integrate every school in this state." He also said, "By no stretch of the imagination has Bruce Bennett stopped the NAACP in Little Rock."

Faubus is considered a foe of integration and Bennett has been active in fighting the NAACP.

"People in Mississippi have died for trying to vote," Bates said. "We have it here and don't take advantage of it." He also urged Negroes to use their buying power to fight discrimination.

Distance from New Orleans to St. Louis via the Mississippi River is 1,200 miles.

tences of five years. Both have appealed.

Starting last March, a number of lunch counter sit-ins were staged in Little Rock as demonstrations spread throughout the southland in passive resistance to racial discrimination.

Thirteen Negro male students of Philander Smith were arrested in two of the bigger demonstrations. They were convicted in Pulaski Circuit Court and given from 30 days to seven months in jail. The sentences are under appeal.

Most of the students were convicted under a recent Arkansas law making it a misdemeanor to create a public disturbance.

Casper refused to say how the two men happened to be picked up early this morning at the scene of the attempted bombing at the Negro college.

The FBI agent said the dynamite box was under a stairwell on the southside of a four-story brick building housing Negro students on its top floor.

Miller and Parks were questioned at length by the FBI before they were taken to Pulaski County Jail where they will be held until they are arraigned later in the day before a U. S. commissioner.

Adams, who was held at Forrest City in eastern Arkansas, also was to be arraigned later today.

Violation of the new civil rights law could mean as much as a year imprisonment and a $1,000 fine or both. If death results, a jury can recommend a death sentence.

The FBI said Miller and Adams are accused of taking the explosive from Memphis, Tenn., to West Memphis, Ark., just across the Mississippi River, where it was delivered to Parks Friday.

The black dynamite box was slightly more than two feet high and about 10 inches across. It had a sheet metal reflector to keep a 15-inch candle from setting it on fire. A fuse was wrapped inside the box and frayed at an end for rapid ignition.

Another school board building was bombed last Labor Day. The board's administration building, the business office of Mayor Werner C. Knoop and a fire department station wagon were bombed then.

Damage was heavy in the Labor Day bombings but no one was hurt. Five men were arrested and charged with dynamiting public property. One pleaded guilty and drew a maximum five years in prison and a $500 fine. Three others were sentenced by juries to three-year terms but the convictions have been appealed. The fifth man has not yet come to trial.

Mrs. Eppler Entertains
47 Bridge Club

Members of the 47 Bridge Club were entertained with a dessert-bridge given by Mrs. Earl Eppler at her home on Wednesday. The living room arranged for the players was beautifully decorated with arrangements of red and white gladioli.

Mrs. Jack Robey won the high score prize.

Guests were Mrs. Allen Goe, Mrs. Guss McCaskill and Mrs. Robey. Members included Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Jim Nelson, Mrs. Bob Varborough, Mrs. Vernon Bell-Gates and Mrs. E. R. Ward.

Miss Wilson Feded

Miss Carolyn Wilson, bride-elect of James Leonard Hart, was feted at a miscellaneous bridal shower given by Mrs. Garland Fore, Mrs. A. S. Buchanan, Mrs. L. L. Buchanan, Mrs. Curtis Ward, Mrs. Milburn Tippit, Mrs. Buck Dickerson, Mrs. Dean May, Mrs. Ralph Fore, Miss Frances Thrasher, Mrs. John T. McKee and Mrs. Roy Loomis on Thursday evening in the church parlors of the First Baptist Church.

Shasta daisies in a milk glass container and vases of white and white lilies were placed at points of interest in the room. The honoree's chair was marked with a huge white bow and wedding bells. She wore a gold-embroidered cotton dress with white accessories and pinned a corsage of white carnations to a gift from the hostesses at her shoulder.

Mrs. Tippit and Mrs. L. L. Buchanan conducted appropriate games with Mrs. W. M. Blackshaw and Miss Wilson being for the prize after which Miss Wilson opened and displayed her lovely gifts that were on a table covered with a linen cut work cloth.

The sixty guests were served refreshments from a table covered with a white linen cut work cloth over pink. The centerpiece was of white freige mums, pom-pom mums and pink baby breath in a crystal bowl flanked by four pink candles in crystal holders and white cupid holding wedding bells with streamers of white satin tied with love knots and clusters of lilies of the valley. The pink and white motif was also carried out in the individual cakes that were served by Mrs. L. L. Buchanan. Pink punch was served by Mrs. Roy Loomis.

Earl Eppler has been the recent guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Eppler, in Ada, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robey and Gus left Friday for a visit with relatives in Elton, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Graham and Mrs. Martha Wells have had as their guests, Mrs. Joe Wells and Mrs. Wallace Webber and Laurie of Port Arthur, Texas.

Dock Milam of Glendale, Calif., has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Milam.

Howard Harrell has returned to Little Rock after a visit with his sister, Mrs. R. S. Hamilton and Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. J. C. Stegar.

Mrs. S. P. Davis Jr. and children, Drew and Gail of Fayetteville were guests last week of Mrs. S. P. Davis. Mr. Davis attended camp at Ft. Hood, Tex.

Mrs. C. A. Smart of Little Rock is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Stainton.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Dr. Ralph T. B. Todd, 68, for many years personal physician to the family of the late multimillionaire and philanthropist, John D. Rockefeller Jr., died Saturday at Tucson Medical Center.
